RANGERS HONOR THEIR FIRST ANNIVERSARY

The First Gleichen Ranger Company marked its first anniversary last Tuesday, the occasion being fittingly celebrated by a banquet in the Ranger Hall. Ranger Marie Michael convened the social committee and very capably carried out the program for the evening.

Letters were read from ex-Captain Mrs. Ady and Ranger Jean McConnel who have moved from Gleichen during the year. Reviewing the year's activities good progress has been made and a keen interest has been shown. Mr. G. Gertnerham, district commissioner, addressed the members congratulating the organization on the year's showing. The two Lieutenants and secretary also made a few remarks.

The evening was spent playing games after which the closing ceremonies were performed.

PUPILS SHAMROCK SCHOOL ENTERTAIN WITH A TOMBOLA

A pleasant afternoon was spent at the Shamrock School on Friday, March 27th, when they held their Tombola. The pupils put on a very nice performance.

During each items tickets were drawn, and the lucky winners were as follows: Leslie Wilson $3 cash Miss H. Taylor, knitting bag; R. B Hayes, bath towels; Mrs. D. Robison, pitcher; Mrs. McMullen, bath towel; Georgina McPhee, print apron; Stan Haskayne, box candy; Mrs. G. Bell, luncheon set; Mrs. A. Quinnell, embroidered apron; V. Johnson, 2 cups and saucers; Gordon Wilson, pair Bantam roosters.

A nice lunch was enjoyed by all furnished by the parents.

"The Triumphal Entry."

The Triumphal Entry which occurs about a week before the Census is an interesting event considered from many standpoints, but perhaps the most interesting for us is to observe the manner in which different types of people received Christ and the motives that seemed to impel them to act as they did.

If Jesus were to visit any city in Canada to-day would His reception be very different from what it was on the first Palm Sunday?

What will next Sunday reveal as to our reception of Him?

MEN WHO PLAN AHEAD

Have you ever noticed the number of times you hear men say, "Oh, I can't plan ahead as far as that?" Ask them if they are going to Europe next summer and they will say, "Oh, that's too far ahead, I can't make plans that far in advance."

It wouldn't be so bad if they were unable to make travel plans, but they carry their inability to make plans into every development of their lives. We know one manufacturer who started with little capital. Today he employs many men and women. He says he owes his growth in business to his habit of making plans far in advance of his needs. When he had a tiny little plant he had plans made for an ideal plant he wanted to own someday. By holding the picture of this ideal in his mind before his eyes he worked until it materialized.

"Everything I have," he says, "was mine in imagination long before it took material form, and I am quite sure that by visualizing a bigger business and making definite plans far in advance I have succeeded much more rapidly than if I had simply let things happen." Are you a planner or a mere plodder?

The man who said that every knock is a bush surely never drove an old car.

News Items of Local Interest

There will likely be a stampede held in Gleichen this year judging by the talk going on.

The First Gleichen Troop of Girl Guides held their regular meeting in the Guide Hall on Friday, March 27, at 7.30 p.m., with about 65 per cent attendance. A few more of the girls passed the test on the Twelve Little Things. Irene Young and Gertrude Jeschinski are now second class guides and received their second year service stars on Friday night. The guides played a game and then the meeting closed. The standings for the patrols is as follows: Nightingales 27, Gladiators 22, Robins 26, Canaries 20.

Mrs. George McBean who is at present confined in a Calgary hospital recovering from an operation is reported to be doing as well as can be expected.

On two occasions this week the temperature has fallen to ten below. Judging by the comments heard on street every one is just about "fed up" with winter.

After a bad attack of pneumonia Donald McArthur is recovering satisfactorily and is able to be out of bed.

The U. F. W. A. held their last camp in favor of requiring a periodic inspection of brakes on automobiles. That should help a lot, for instead of drivers running over a man, they will probably be able to stop right on top of him.

It is an honor to receive a bill. Instead of getting all riled up when the mail brings you a statement of account, you should be genuinely pleased. For the bill is an indication that someone has faith in your honesty. If you never received a bill, it would indicate that your credit is worthless, and that no one is willing to take your word that you will pay. Credit is the most valuable thing a person can have. Money may be had by various means, but credit comes only from years of honesty and prompt payment of bills when due. When you pay a bill, you are merely being honest. When you receive a bill then, meet it if you possibly can. If you can't, frankly tell your creditor why you can't. You'll find him more ready to meet you half way. Cherish your credit as you do health, happiness and other precious boons equally rare and elusive.

A noted Alberta lung specialist says that a man who sits at the top of his voice for an hour upon arising will not be troubled by chest complaints in his old age. The chances are that he won't even be troubled by old age.

A farmer should remember that his wife is a business partner. She makes the butter, boards the hands, helps prepare things for town, is a watch dog for the premises when he is away, and sometimes assists with the poultry and garden; and when he secretly signs away money she has helped to earn, he is cheating his partner, as well as robbing his wife; and it is an offence the law would not tolerate in any other co-partnership, nor should it in this. There is a law that prevents a man from selling his farm without his wife's signature, and it sounds as if a wife was of some importance but it is rendered non-effective as a preservative of her home from the fact that he can mortgage it and endorse other men's names to any extent without her knowledge or consent, and thus dispose of the family possessions, the sheriff can sell, and she has no rights that he is bound to respect. This statute is a mockery until it is supplemented by another making a man's signature, as security, invalid when written without his wife's approval and still another making it illegal for him to borrow to pay debts she has no knowledge of.

FROM THE FILES OF GLEICHEN CALL TWENTY YEARS AGO

Thursday March 30, 1916.

Here is a list of the latest recruits from Gleichen: 118 Klitties: W. H. McKie, G. McCaig, W. W. Bell, Wm. Peterson, W. Muir, 137 Battalion: Rob. Jeffers, Ott Quatman, E. P. Tostivan, Sidney Carrick and Edwin Mott.

The last three homesteads in Queenstown was thrown open for a short time ago. E. McCalum secured one quarter and the other two were taken up by soldiers. As most of these quarters were in the old Snake Lake bottom they are not of much value.

Word has been received that Chas. Marshall has been wounded in the temple, just how seriously is not yet known. At the present time he is in the hospital at Bowmore.

At a box social for the benefit of the patriotic fund baskets went for as high as $10.75. This took place at school south of town.

Harry Hamar was the happiest man in town last Thursday morning March 23, just because Mrs. Hamar presented him with a fine boy.

Chris Anderson and wife of Standford spent a couple of days in town this week visiting friends. This is their first visit here in many months.

The Gleichen Masons have purchased the building on Fifth Avenue adjoining the town hall from J. M. Telford. They will remodel it and use the second story for lodge purposes.

A letter received from France states that Alex Thompson has been wounded by a shot through the stomach and the doctors state they do not expect him to recover. Private Thompson was for a time employed by W. F. Ferguson on his farm north west of town.

The little four year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jenz is entitled to a life saving medal for the presence of mind the little tot showed in saving her little nine month old brother from drowning in a tub of water. It appears Mrs. Jenz was bathing and left her clothes on the floor and left a tub of water in the floor. The baby was playing around the tub, as all live boys do, overbalanced and fell head first into the tub and certainly would have drowned had not his sister promptly pulled him out. It must be admitted that there are few children at the tender age of four years who would have done so bravely to the rescue. Our friend "Shorty" is justly proud of his bright little family.

The organization of a Patriotic committee took place in the sitting room of the Bank of Commerce. This will work in connection with the Patriotic society already organized here. The officers chosen are Mrs. Cameron president; Mrs. Hardwick vice-president; and Mrs. Bartsch secretary.

Mrs. Ryan arrived from Winnipeg.

There is some talk of holding the Gleichen Stampede this year on June 20 and 21.

Farmers are still hauling grain across the ice on the river at Cluny but it cannot last much longer.

A. Wilson recently returned from a three month visit at his former home in the states.

J. W. Jewett has been troubled with his throat for sometime and has gone to Rochester to be operated on. He will be absent about six weeks.

J. W. Bartsch, wife and family of Majorville spent a couple of days last week in town with his brother, Chris Bartsch. This is their first trip to the family in about six months.

WHY GROW MULES?

Mares are more likely to catch from a Jack than from a horse. Mules will begin work much younger, do more work on less feed and live twice as long, hence sell for more money.

More mules were shipped out of the Montreal harbor last year than have been grown in Canada during the past ten years, and the present demand for all classes, especially the light mules for the cotton trade, will continue for years to come because of the scarcity of both mares and Jacks.

I have one of the best Jacks ever imported and breed mares without any service fees.

$15.00 paid when the mule arrives, or every third mule at weaning time covers my fees.

I will travel him in any community where sufficient mares are available.

Write now if interested. The early bird catches the worm.

Why Not a Holiday?

"Get away from your work and take a holiday" is a prescription frequently handed out by members of the medical profession to the jaded city office worker. The advice is usually based on the prediction that the eternal grind of routine work day in and day out, week after week and month after month has impaired the nerves and that change of scenery and new activities is all that is required to steady the nerves and tone up the flagging system.

Excellent advice unquestionably, but surely as applicable to the man and the woman on the farm and to the small town or village merchant or worker as to the denizens of the larger centres.

As a matter of fact the former to-day are probably in greater need of the recuperative benefits of change of scene than are the latter for the very good reason that no one has sustained a continuous barrage of hard knocks and trying conditions more than the man on the land and his family who have withstood a tremendous and prolonged siege against the combined forces of economic and agricultural depression.

The farmer and his wife and the occupants of the small towns and villages have been the shock troops of a terrific encounter with overwhelming forces for a long period. They have been the closest to the conflict and have borne the brunt of the fray for a terrible many years.

No one can undergo such a lengthy struggle without some definite effects on the nervous system and the physical frame and it would be more than surprising if tenders had not become frayed and worn, if not visibly involved at least strained under such an ordeal.

Such being the case, it is not at all amiss to suggest that the time has come when the workers on the prairies should plan to take a well earned holiday this summer, even if it has to be limited to a week. True, it may be difficult to arrange for the necessary care for livestock and other things which must be provided for in the absence of the family from home, but such obstacles can usually be overcome with a little ingenuity and planning.

Objection might also be raised that it costs money to go away on a vacation and that there is so little of this commodity available as a result of the pressure of economic conditions of the past few years. Perfectly true, but here again the difficulty is not insuperable except perhaps in extreme cases for, under present day circumstances it is possible to contrive a holiday with very little expense.

For the majority of prairie residents the conveyance problem is already solved. There are few who do not either own or can get the use of a car or truck, even though it may be of ancient vintage; and where these are not available there is at least a wagon and team.

A car and a tent or a truck, wagon and tarpaulin available, the twin problem of transport and temporary housing are solved. As for the question of sustenance this also is not difficult if provision on the prairies is the sum total. Sausages, bacon, ham, bread along on the trip and others can be purchased from small town merchants and farm houses at no greater cost than if they were purchased at home.

About the only additional expense of such a holiday trip is the cost of gasoline and oil, if auto or truck is used, and this can be kept within reasonable limits if the vacationist curbs the temptation to travel long distances and burn up road mileage at great speed. One does not have to go far from home to find new and interesting things and the leisurely pace is the one that affords the most beneficial results.

Such a holiday should yield dividends in improved mental and bodily health and it may be made to give educational returns to all members of the participating family. The alert vacationist will inevitably pick up some ideas on such a tour which he can put to practical use on his return home. Contact with new minds will invariably result in broadening the outlook on life and incidents and scenes will be absorbed and cherished later. Incidentally, and as an aside, a camera, if one is available, may be made a valuable adjunct to a vacation trip.

Much more might be said about the virtues and values of a holiday. Suffice it to say that the man and his family who take a little time off for a change of scene and use the time sensibly will reap dividends that cannot be estimated in dollars and cents.

Each plan should be carefully worked out. Apart from the pleasure of anticipation it will provide, planning ahead will ensure proper provision against contingencies and enable the adventure to be taken with peace of mind, an important concomitant of a real vacation.

Perfect Courtesy

A certain middle-aged spinster has a vivid memory of Texas courtesy. She was struggling with a hot cup of coffee in a small-town railway station, trying to gulp it before the train pulled out. A cowboy, seated a couple of stools away, noted her plight, and seeing the guard waving to the woman, came to the fore. "Here, ma'am, I'll take my cup of coffee. It's already sauced and blomed."

Storm Upsets Salvage Seaw

Within an hour of its destination, a snow made lopsided by heavy ice-crystallization of ice turned turtle in British Columbia, and dived into the sea $3,600 worth of machinery which, though salvaged at considerable expense from a disused sawmill at Queen Charlotte city. The snow, recently overhauled at a cost of several hundred dollars, was being towed by the power-tug Daly when a strong northeast squall proved too much for it.

Speed Limit Of Planes

Only 575 Miles An Hour With Present Wing Design

With the present design of wings, airplanes will be limited to a speed of about 575 miles an hour. Dr. George W. Lewis, director of research of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, showed at a special meeting of the Institute of the Aeronautical Sciences that was held in the New York Museum of Science and Industry in Rockefeller Center. At this speed Dr. Lewis said—and he showed motion pictures to prove the point—the sustaining flow of air over the top of the wing suddenly breaks away in a "shock wave" and the airplane loses all its lift.

For King George Memorial

Suggestions Given To Meeting By Archbishop Of Canterbury

A memorial to King George should take the form of a statue of his late majesty in London and a philanthropic fund which would benefit the whole country.

This decision was reached at an informal meeting at the Mansion House, London, convened by the lord mayor at the request of Prime Minister Baldwin. The Archbishop of Canterbury proposed that the memorial should take such a form.

HOW'S YOUR STOMACH?

YOU lose vital nerve force if you allow your stomach to distress you. Acid stomach, indigestion, gas or biliousness, "twitches," cause the blood to be poisoned and will eventually bring you down and never force. This is what Clarence House of 81 Main St., St. Catharines, Ont., said: "I have been taking Vicks Vapo-Rub for years. I would catch gas and suffer after eating. I used to take a spoonful of stomach a bit too late. I used Dr. Pierce's Golden Mixture and got along all right, but on the job it felt different. The 'Discovery' helped to drive away the stomach trouble. I find it good. New size tablets 50c, liquid $1.00 and $1.35."

FLEMING'S FOLLY

— BY —
LAWRENCE A. REATING

SYNOPSIS

The story opens with Link Fleming addressing a meeting of Boone County cattlemen, called together with the object of forming an irrigation company.

Roper Kilgo, the boss of the Rawhide and nearby ranges, who seemed to approve to it had forced Snake Tom, a new cattlemen, to submit his opinion. Kilgo knew he would be called upon to give his expert opinion in favor of the scheme, to reverse his earlier endorsement, and declare that participation in Boone's irrigation project as Fleming's plan was concerned was only a new-fangled way to waste money.

The meeting terminates, but Buzz meets him outside and asks him and Kilgo stay behind and Helen asks Fleming questions about his irrigation plan. This angers Buzz, who accuses Fleming of trying to make him embarrassed, and as the guests again leave, "spreads" Buzz shoots at Fleming in an uncontrollable fit of anger, but Buster Townsend, Link's son, is shot in the stomach, and Fleming is arrested, tried, convicted and sentenced to three years' imprisonment.

Helen and Fleming form a partnership to provide irrigation for their own properties.

Fleming goes home and studies the plans drawn by Torney to learn where they could be modified to a smaller scheme suitable for his and Helen's land, and is satisfied it could be done. Feeling cold, he lights the fire and there is an explosion which wrecks the house, kills the dog and the piano, and renders Link unconscious. He is rescued from the blaze by an employee.

Buzz and Link ride to Rawhide for supplies and to obtain funds to carry out the dam project. They meet Roper, who greets Helen and offers her a shop with her own goods. She accepts. The shop has been paroled, and would arrive on the incoming stage, but that he thinks Link has made a mistake in getting Buzz released. (Now Go On With The Story)

A muscle quirked in Hamilton's cheek as again he failed to hold the rancher's steady gaze and then he looked at beery Kilgo with some uneasiness in his eyes. He looked at beery Kilgo with his right thence at tall, well-bearded Jackpot Mell. Following his eyes, Link felt keen apprehension that things were going all wrong—for Buzz had fallen among the very companions he should have avoided. "Wal, Link!" Kilgo boomed boisterously, "you're borrowed up to yore neck for that crazy irrigation scheme. Otto Pieper turned yuh down, o' course?"

The statement came in the form of a question. Fleming summoned a careless grin. "If yuh know, Roper, why ask me?"

"Course he turned yuh down," growled the lynx-eyed Mell. "So you're busted, eh, Fleming? Busted, sky high?" he jibed in grating tones.

"That's tough, ain't it, boys? It's just like you say."

Fleming's eyes hardened. "Well, Jackpot," he returned in a controlled tone, "I'd sure know better than to ask you for money if I did need it."

"If yuh did need it? Say, if you don't need it, I'm a cross-eyed buzzard!"

"Then it might interest you to know," Link retorted crisply, "that I don't need money right now!"

Mell started, his face coloring with wrath. For the nuance of his own speech had been twisted to make him a "cross-eyed buzzard." "Yuh callin' me names?" he rasped darkly.

The Star Loop owner checked resentfully, that veiled up his eyes, his face hot. "I called you nothing?" Turning to Buzz, he placed a comradely hand on his shoulder. "Shall we be on our way, oldtimer? Helen will be tickled when you slide off yore horse has an grub her in yore arms!"

The taut silence that answered him was disconcerting. Of a sudden Hamilton sent his chair scraping backward as he rose. The prison pallor of his haggard countenance seemed to assume a bluish shade against fire flashing in the newcomer's eyes. His thin frame trembled with rage that that fought for expression and he shook a skinny fist close under Fleming's nose.

"I'm onto you, yuh know lowdown skunk!" he cried in a low, growling voice of almost maniacal fury. "I'm onto yuh tricks, getting me hooked. Talkin' my sister into throwin' away our Triple H on that lousy irrigation scheme only a fool'd take on. I'm onto you, Fleming! And by gawd, I won't stand for it. That's that?"

The Star Loop owner stepped back his jaw dropping in genuine amazement. "What are you talkin' about, Buzz?" he demanded. "Why, say, I—" He became conscious of

The smell of whisky, raw whisky and plenty of it, and he scowled, scrutinizing the man's contorted face.

Roper Kilgo and his cronies had deliberately, maliciously stuffed Buzz with misinformation about the Silver Creek project, why? The answer was simple, instantly. The fat Kilgo was born with apprehension; test Link, after all, make a success of the irrigation project on which Roper had betrayed him at that Trailfest Hotel meeting last fall—and use the very land Kilgo had lost in a poker game to prove what water would do.

Link stood panting, feeling of his neck. He did not fear their fortifies despite the saloon owners' reputation as a killer. His gaze travelled over the swinging doors. Link waited until the thrusters thrust them aside, then the rancher sent a cold, defiant look around the circle of faces and started after.

Surprise swept over Fleming's face as he saw Helen, her Stetson tugging at its chin strap about her graceful neck, her brown hair flying in the breeze, and her lathered plumb to its haunches in a skidding stop, and flung excitedly from the saddle.

"Link!" she called, running toward him. "Oh, our eight hundred dollars—I've been robbed!"

Very Seldom Anything Upsets The Week-End Holiday

When Chancellor Hitler announced he was sending troops into the Rhineland it did not alter the English week-end custom.

Prime Minister Baldwin remained at his country residence and other cabinet ministers did not get unduly perturbed. They decided to think it over.

The week-end is an old English custom. There is the short week-end from Saturday noon to Monday morning and the long week-end from Thursday night to Tuesday morning.

Also, there was Roper's attentive-ness to Helen Hamilton. His clumsy compliments, his eyes following her every movement with an absorbed relish Link did not like to see. Before her return from Ohio, Roper considered himself the only con-tender of importance for her hand. Now—and the thought made Link's pulse speed—she seemed to favor him . . .

"Give me paroled to make a hit with Helen, you know damned well I ain't allowed to damage the spread!" Eyes averted, Buzz advanced threateningly. "While yuh keep me from my rights, yuh soft soap my sister to beat us out of everything we own. By God," he cried. "I'll kill yuh!"

With quickness astonishing in one of his prison-worn appearance, the maddened man hurled himself forward, jabbing with open hands to choke his victim.

Fleming was caught off guard. Hard fingers sank cruelly into the flesh of his neck. Instinct made him seek the sash on his hip; but he desisted, and with both strong hands tore away the others fingers. His grimy, powerful wrench he sent him staggering. Hamilton slipped, fell, and went crashing into chairs grouped around a vacant card table.

Roper Kilgo, Jackpot Mell, and several other men stiffened abruptly. The two cronies stood alert to snatch their Colts, glaring. "Let that kid alone!" snarled Mell, a dangerous light in his beady eyes.

Link stood panting, feeling of his neck. He did not fear their fortifies despite the saloon owners' reputation as a killer. His gaze travelled over the swinging doors. Link waited until the thrusters thrust them aside, then the rancher sent a cold, defiant look around the circle of faces and started after.

Novel Postal Service

Rocket Releases Parachute With Metal Box Carrying Letters

Rocket societies are being organized in all leading countries of the world according to the journal of the British Interplanetary Society, which has just been published in London. American and British societies are well known. Germany has a regular rocket mail service which passes over a high mountain between Roch Trotch and Semirach. The rockets, shot off at an angle of 65 degrees, fall, even when at their greatest height, a parachute carrying a metal box containing 200 to 300 letters. This novel postal service has its own postage stamps. From Calcutta, India, a rocketeer reports a rocket shot by him over the Damodar River containing 20 letters and two live birds, the first successful transportation by rocket of living things included, Kilgo!

His eye narrowed. "Yeah? Let me tell yuh somethin'. Heavy rains lately have darned near flooded the cut-off. If that water comes on my spread, I'll sue yuh for damages!"

This was indeed a possibility, of which Link was uneasily aware. It was part of his reason for being anxious to complete the dam within the next two or three days.

"It's a crazy scheme," scoffed Jackpot Mell. "Trying to irrigate no-good land!" Fleming's Fury—yeah, that's a good name. Not a man in Boone County believes in it. Hell, I know it!" he demanded of Howland, the veteran Texas trail driver. "Iz, Fleming's Fury gonna turn out?"

"Wal, no, I don't reckon 'iz," Howland replied cagily.

"You, Benson?"

Mat scratched his ear. "Don't like to discourage yuh, Link, but it sure looks to me like yuh're plum loco, pourin' all your money in a loony proposition like that."

Other men expressed their lack of faith, but Fleming had heard all this so often before that he paid little heed. His eyes were on young Hamilton, gulping down drink after drink of whisky. Somehow he had to get the youth away, take him home.

"Iz," he suggested at last, "we're gettin' going. You've been poisoned against me without hearin' my side. Thing I want is to have you surprise Helen. She's thought about you every hour in the day, Buzz," he went on in a low tone. "Pined for you every night. She's plumb anxious to see you, son!"

TODAY IS THE DAY OF THE ELUSIVE WALLETS AND RUBBER GUMDROPS

Today is All Fools Day. An open wallet from which something like a dollar bill protrudes lies in the middle of the street. A low black sedan containing two women stops suddenly. One woman steps from the car and stoops to pick up the money, but the wallet is jerked out of her reach by an unseen thread. Three rough faces appear over the top of a fence. "April Fool!" they shout. The woman doesn't know whether to laugh or scold. Remembering her youth she smiles, waves a hand and climbs back into the car to join her friend in a good laugh.

Such a procedure in one form or another, has taken place every year for centuries of April Fools' Day or All Fools' Day. This is the day of the practical joker; the day of contests between the "himb-wits" and the "numbs-wits," and the only result is a sense of humor in each of the contestants.

According to historians, April fooling has developed from the old custom of the spring celebration held at the Vernal Equinox, which began on New Year's Day, March 25, and ended April 1. While these festivals of fun have always been held near the spring equinox the origin of the idea has never been adequately explained, although there are many theories.

In England, the foolish practices did not acquire their present form until the sixteenth century. In Scotland, the custom was known as "Hunting the Gowk" (the Cuckoo) and April Fools were known as "April Gowks."

It is believed that the Germans and the English borrowed the custom from the French who call an April fool "un poison d'Avril" or an April fish. They claim the idea dates back to a certain spring festival which celebrated the fact that there were more fish in the stream in the spring, and that the young fish were more easily hooked at this time of year.

In early Rome, burlesque tricks were played on Feb. 17, and in India practical joking is a mild name for tricks played upon one another by the Hindus during the Feast of Holi which ends March 31.

By the end of the eighteenth century the "making of April Fools" was an established custom and has continued right on down to today. Unfortunately, there are those who always succumb to the practical tricks and who would, if it were possible, be a parliament who would see that the day was stricken from the calendar.

Following are a few of the practical joker's pet tricks. The telephone call, which it is impossible to do much about, is frequently used. The prankster will ask you if he is calling your number and when you answer "Yes" will reply "I've got your number," chortle to himself and hang up. The red hot food stand where everything from chewing gum to chicken gumbo is duly seasoned with red pepper is an old one.

Ads have been inserted in papers directing people who own black cats to take them to a certain address where they will receive a sum of money for each cat presented. Over 600 cats were deposited in a house in London as a result of this trick. Invitations to dinner by someone other than the hostess are frequent. At 7 o'clock both the guest and his unsuspecting hostess are surprised. The hidden string tricks are the most common. In towns with wooden sidewalks anything from hats to wallets will be found nailed tightly to the walk.
